Epsilon design

Epsilon design.. As architects, we excel in design consultancy in architecture and interior design projects. Principal ongoing projects include commercial, hospitality, retail, auditoriums, schools and residences.

Niche of specialization.. Our specialization offers new visions for urban apartments with space planning and aesthetics interwoven to fit into a multicultural lifestyle. The residential designs satisfy a wide variety of user needs and aspirations with a work process to bring diverse views into a functional solution to stand out among present global trends.

Area of mastery! The modern urban dwelling, for some people, is not only a combination of the functional, environmental and sustainable needs of its users but is also a measure of success for the owners, wherein, the level of luxury denotes the affluence and elitism amongst peers. Having gathered experience during the last fifteen years, the Epsilon design practice, has somewhat mastered the art of striking the right balance between the above mentioned factors.

As expert, share your designing views.. As in high end fashion, in the creation of exclusive customer fitted clothing that would change and vary depending specifically on the wearer's measurements and body stance; - architecture and interior design would also vary depending on social, economic, geographical and functional requirements. Thus, every site would have something to say, every site would want to be treated, designed and dressed differently, not sticking to one signature style or one particular school of thought. Each project has to be carefully and individually planned to bring about its own identity that would be unique to itself. ■
